

Linguistic Variation and Contact: The Syntax of Relativization in the Languages of Western Asia (Iran, Caucasus, Anatolia, Near-East)

La variation linguistique et le contact : la relativisation dans les langues d'Asie Occidentale (Iran, Caucase, Anatolie, Proche-Orient)

'en langue anglaise'

09:30 Welcoming coffee

10:00 Anaid Donabédian and Pollet Samvelian (INALCO & Sorbonne Nouvelle), Areal linguistics, dialectology and microvariation: presentation of the research project Languages, Dialects and Isoglosses of the Iran-Caucasus-Anatolia-Near-East Area – Workpackage LC3 of Labex EFL

10:30 Jaklin Kornfilt (Syracuse University), Turkish relative clauses: Exceptional within East Asian Turkic, expected in the West

11:15 Lina Choueiri (American University of Beirut), Resumption and relativization across (some) Arabic dialects

12:00 Lunch break

14:00 Jost Gippert (Goethe Universität Frankfurt), Relative clauses in the Southern Caucasus in an areal perspective

14:45 Yuri Lander (Higher School of Economics, Linguistics, Moscow), On apparent specifics of Circassian relativization

15:30 Coffee break

16:00 David Erschler (UMass Amherst), Relative clauses in Ossetic and the typology of correlatives

17:00 Conclusion and perspectives